

Temple School of Medicine

DAROFFDESIGN

This project was a new construction for a 485,000 sq. ft. academic assembly and classroom building in collaboration with Ballinger Architects. DDI's scope included programming, space planning, interior design, millwork design, construction documentation, furniture and finish selection for public areas, conference, training, and classroom facilities.

